SUBJECT: WV LIVING HEALTHY PUBLICATION NOW AVAILABLE

As part of our ongoing commitment to highlighting the vital role hospitals play in supporting both the health and economic well-being of their communities, the West Virginia Hospital Association is proud to announce the release of the special commemorative publication, WV Living Healthy – The Human Side of Healing.

Created in partnership with WV Living magazine as part of the Association's 100th Anniversary celebration, this statewide publication highlights the hospitals, programs, and innovations that are improving health outcomes across West Virginia. The magazine showcases the critical work taking place in communities throughout the state, including preventive care initiatives, community wellness programs, behavioral health services, addiction recovery resources, and much more.

In addition, the publication features West Virginia's only comprehensive printed Addiction Recovery Guide, making it a valuable resource for patients, families, and communities throughout the year.

WVHA will be mailing a bundle of magazines to each member hospital CEO. We encourage you to share copies with board members, communications and marketing staff, community leaders, and other key stakeholders. WVHA will also utilize additional copies throughout the year during meetings and outreach efforts with policymakers, partners, and community leaders.

An electronic version of the publication is also available and can be accessed here. Please consider sharing the digital edition through your hospital's social media channels and other communication platforms to help extend the reach of these important stories.

Thank you to all of our member hospitals and associate members whose support helped make this publication possible. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at the Association at (304) 353-9719 or tgregory@wvha.org.
